SERGEANTS 1965 - 1966

On June Day, 1966, we will rejoin the ranks of the Ancient & Honorable Artillery Company. But through the years we will smile sagely and nod knowingly when that wise old Ancient proclaims, "You haven't been an Ancient until you've been a Sergeant."

It would be folly to attempt a review of our year as Sergeants. Our clearest recollection is but a swirling kaleidoscope of people, places and events. Our purpose was to provide enjoyment for the Company; in so doing, we provided enjoyment for ourselves.

Our immediate contribution to the Company is impossible for us to evaluate. I do predict however that our most meaningful contribution to the Company will be made in the future. The association of these twelve Sergeants throughout the past year has produced two main results: A special bond of friendship and a true devotion to the spirit of the Company. With this support and inspiration, your Sergeants of 65-66 will continue to devote their time and talents to the magnificent traditions of the Ancient & Honorable Artillery Co.

THE ANCIENT AND HONORABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY OF MASSACHUSETTS

1638 - 1966

The Oldest Chartered Military Organization in the Western Hemisphere

As the settlements which followed the landing at Plymouth increased and spread there was no organized military force for protection against the Indians. So-called "Train Bands" were formed in different settlements but these were only local volunteer companies and there was no joint action or centralized authority. Thus the subject of adequate military protection soon became a matter of serious consideration. Many of the settlers had been members in England, of the Honourable Artillery Company at London (organized and chartered in 1537) and it was natural that the military training they had received in that Company should lead them to form a similar organization in the new country. In 1637 a Company was formed for instruction in discipline and tactics, and that year Governor Winthrop was petitioned for a Charter. He refused the request because he feared the establishment of a military force which might overthrow the civil power. However, the Governor finally granted a Charter on March 16, 1638, and on the first Monday in June following, an election of Officers was held on Boston Common. The Common then being an open field leading down to the Charles River, the most convenient place to cast the ballots was on the head of the drum, which was placed in front of the Company. Since that time the Company has held its election on the Common on the first Monday in June and ceremony of casting the votes on the Drum Head has been a traditional event of the day for over three hundred years, the only exceptions being the years 1687 to 1689, when meetings of the Company were suppressed by Governor Andros, and from 1775 to 1785, when meetings were discontinued on account of the Revolutionary War.

The first Captain commanding the Company was Robert Keayne, whose home was on the corner of State and Washington Streets. Keayne had been a member of The Honourable Artillery Company of London. Upon his death, he left in his will to the Town of Boston the land at the head of State Street for a Town House together with money to build it providing, however, that "the Military Company of Massachusetts" should have a room in the Town House for an Armory. This is the land on which the old State House now stands the gift of which was accepted by the Town of Boston.

In its Armory, the Company maintains a Military Museum and Library which is without equal in the United States. Here are relics of every war in which this Country has engaged since its settlement. Many of these are Museum pieces and have been on display at various times in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. On the risers of the thirteen steps which lead up to the Headquarters room of the Company are commemorated in bronze plates, the names of the thirteen States in the order in which they accepted the Constitution. Around the walls of the Armory are the portraits of most of the Captains who have commanded the Company since 1638 to the present day. The Armory is open to the public daily, and many thousands of visitors from every part of the country and many from abroad, are registered every year upon the Guest Book.

"The position of the members of the Company in the social, civil and military life of the Colony indicates the respect which people entertained for the Company as well as the ability and prominence of its members. They were first in organizing churches and supporting them, they were prominent in framing and also in administering the laws of the Colony; they were foremost in the introduction of manufacturing and the extension of trade in Boston. They were the chief military minds of the Colony and among the first in its defense. Many of them were public benefactors, devoting somewhat of their wealth to education, religion and charity.

"They trod the fields of every battlefield of New England in the first century of the Company's existence; they fought for freedom on foreign soil; they judged the courts; they pleaded at the bar; they instituted town government and levelled forests; were active in settling the towns of the frontier. Nine-tenths of the Company were loyal to the Colonies in the Revolution, and by their experience in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company they served on every battlefield where the banner of Massachusetts waved, from Bunker Hill and Bennington, through Valley Forge to Yorktown."

This is the Company that Washington knew, that Franklin saw march through the streets of Boston, that John Adams and John Quincy Adams visited; the same Company which has always stood for, and always will stand for, the best in citizenship.

THE LAST LEAF

I saw him once before,
As he passed by the door,
And again
The pavement stones resound,
As he totters o'er the ground
With his cane.

They say that in his prime,
Ere the pruning-knife of Time
Cut him down,
Not a better man was found
By the Crier on his round
Through the town.

But now he walks the streets,
And he looks at all he meets
Sad and wan,
And he shakes his feeble head,
That it seems as if he said,
"They are gone."

The mossy marbles rest
On the lips that he has prest
In their bloom,
And the names he loved to hear
Have been carved for many a year
On the tomb.

My grandmamma has said —
Poor old lady, she is dead
Long ago —
That he had a Roman nose,
And his cheek was like a rose
In the snow.

But now his nose is thin,
And it rests upon his chin
Like a staff,
And a crook is in his back,
And a melancholy crack
In his laugh.

I know it is a sin
For me to sit and grin
At him here;
But the old three-cornered hat,
And the breeches, and all that,
Are so queer!

And if I should live to be
The last leaf upon the tree
In the spring,
Let them smile, as I do now,
At the old forsaken bough
Where I cling.
